The school is an institution
made of component parts.

On a larger scale, the city has the same elements.

Therefore the school is a miniature city.

In the realms of education, leadership, athletics, occasions, arts, and people, the school is a springboard - - a student's introduction to the worlds of the city. The school has these characteristics on a minature basis. The city broadens, diversifies, and develops these elements. It is in the city that the student channels the knowledge that was cultivated in the school. In the city he enters the adult world.

Education begins in the classroom.

Education

Education is the primary function of a school. Through cultural, academic, and applied courses, the high school prepares its students for careers and higher education. The curriculum allows the student to concentrate his efforts in one field of study and to develop other talents or interests.

In the city, the student can broaden his education through the various universities, libraries, museums, and other cultural or industrial centers. He takes what he had learned in the school and applies it in the city. Education from both school and city are the component parts in a student's life.

In the city, institutions such as the Planetarium supplement the classroom instruction.

Teachers confer on methods of presentation of material.

In the library, the student broadens and specializes his knowledge by using outside resources.

Communication. . .

English stimulates creativity

The Reading Lab helps this Nilehi student to increase her speed and comprehension.

The English Department concentrates on developing students' writing skills, grammar, and appreciation of literature. This year in addition to the regular Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior English courses, an experimental class in American Literature was offered to the Sophomores, and a seventh period English Seminar was held for those Seniors taking Honors English. English Seminar was a voluntary course aimed at understanding literature as a part of the humanities. A main goal of this course was to allow the students to pick a subject and have them do extensive reading and writing about it. Courses in Public Speaking and Journalism were offered to teach students proper spoken and written expression. The Reading Lab has been more widely used this year. With its new equipment, the Lab can more effectively assist the students in improving their speed and comprehension. Using principles learned from the study of English, Nilehi's Debate Team successfully presented its material in the many contests it entered. Thus, the variety of courses offered in this year's English curriculum gave students a chance to study different methods of communicating ideas.

These seniors are engrossed in a lecture given during their English class.

Upholding the high standards of debate are Joel Weinstein and Ken Seeskin.

Masque and Gavel, under the leadership of Fred Reiner (president) and Alice Wolfe (secretary-treasurer), sponsors the annual inter-school speech tournament.

Robert Cohn gives an oral recitation as part of the Public Speak class curriculum.

Responsible for the publication of the Golden Galleon literary magazine are C. Chapman (social chairman), B. Ellison (publicity manager), M. Haskell (treasurer), L. Pauly (secretary), P. Rest (short story editor), C. Bobera (essay editor), E. Schuman (art editor), and J. Weinstein (poetry editor).

Golden Galleon

Staff members admire the symbolic Golden Galleon during workshop.

Golden Galleon, Nilehi's literary publication, contains the best, original, creative endeavors by students. This excellent magazine was selected for a first place award in last year's Columbian Press Organization competition. The selections appearing in the publications may be in the form of poetry, essay, 1 act-play, short story, and artwork. Writings may also be submitted in foreign languages. Students whose work appears in Golden Galleon become members of the Golden Galleon Guild which encourages and stimulates interest through creative achievements in the literary arts. This year, the guild has instituted reading clinics designed to teach students to be analytical judges of written work. In an attempt to further creative abilities, the Guild awards, at the end of the year banquet, two one-hundred dollar scholarships to the most industrious seniors in the organization. During the week of the banquet, the magazine is distributed to the students and faculty.

The job of accumulating, organizing, and compiling the information for the various sections of the yearbook belongs to the General Staff. In the foreground are the editors. Back Row: R. Felt (Arts), A. Spector (Sports). Second Row: B. Reifman (Occasions), S. Natenberg (Leadership), C. Estrin (Education), and J. Harris (G.A.A.). Seated are co-editors M. Jacob and H. Levin. Staff members in the background are Back Row: J. Gordon, P. Block, L. Manelis, J. Feng, R. Cohn. Third Row: M. Rizman, J. Winkel, B. Ellison, R. Cohn, M. Silton. Second Row: K. Londa, S. Goldberg, M. Johnson, J. Klehr. Front Row: J. Schectman, S. Ferdman, and E. Schuman (Artist).

Reflections

What is Reflections 1964? To the Reflections staff it is the task of compiling an entire school year into a limited number of pages. It is planning pages which will be pleasing to the eye, but still adequately cover the subject. It is the anxiety felt while waiting for pictures to come back from the studio. It is the disappointment of having a wonderful idea slowly dissolve into something more practical. It is the feeling of accomplishment as each section is completed. And finally, it is the satisfaction derived as staff members proudly distribute Reflections 1964 to its loyal supporters.

To the faculty and student body Reflections 1964 is a mirror which reflects many joyous events. It is pictures of friends and teachers and the memories attached to each. It is recalling activities and humorous incidents that will never be forgotten. It is a reflection upon a cherished year that will always remain a fond recollection.

Checking over last minute details before the section is due are Linda Grimson, Carol Estrin, and Bob Cohn.

Eisenberg, J. Kadison, B. Baren, M. Swider, S. Phillips. Front Row: F. Zucker, S. Singer, K. Waysdorf, and editor, F. Nadler.

Nilehilite

The "Nilehilite," Nilehi's bi-weekly newspaper, serves as a vital link between students and faculty. Through its numerous columns and editorials the views of the student body are expressed and debated. The faculty, also, has the opportunity to set forth its opinions on various issues. The full page on athletics assures full coverage of all sports.

Aside from the regular issues, the "Nilehilite" sometimes prints special editions. Such editions honored Homecoming, "Reflections Revelries," and the graduating seniors. The newspaper maintains its high quality of journalism by requiring each prospective staff member to complete a year's course in Journalism before being admitted to the staff. While enrolled in this course, the students act as "cub" reporters for the "Nilehilite" and at the end of the year, publish their own apprentice issue.

These students use the Language Laboratory to practice grammar exercises during a class session.

The control desk in the Language Laboratory enables Miss Fagan to listen to her pupils individually.

Foreign Language is the key to foreign relations.

By recording her voice and then playing back the tape, this girl can find the flaws in her pronunciation.

With the aid of modern lab equipment and a fine teaching staff, the foreign language department at Niles aims to develop student comprehension of French, Spanish, Latin, Russian, and German. In order to eliminate cultural barriers between peoples, students also learn the arts and customs of the country of the language. For the last two years, "oral aural" instruction has been used in the teaching of Spanish and German at Niles. This method emphasizes the language as it is actually spoken in the foreign country. This year this "oral aural" approach has been expanded to include French and Russian.

The foreign language clubs at Niles East are extra-curricular supplements to the French, German, Spanish and Russian classes. Students learn the customs and culture of various countries from club films, guest speakers, and special events. This year French Club instituted a progressive, official, student newspaper. German and Spanish Club parties brought Christmas as it is celebrated in foreign countries to Niles. Spanish Club also had a fall and spring banquet that enabled its members to sample several Spanish dishes. The activities instituted by the foreign language clubs increased the students' understanding of foreign peoples and cultures.

Spanish Club members, led by Mexican folksinger Mr. Antonio Perrusquia, sing popular Spanish songs.

Social Studies tours the societies of the world.

This student listens carefully to the history lecture to make sure he gets accurate notes.

These boys use library facilities to compile information for their history term papers.

This year the main goal of the Social Studies Department was to divide all courses into ability groups. This plan was carried out with Honors programs in Non-Western Civilizations, World History, and United States History. Juniors and Seniors who wanted college credit for their work in history were able to take APP American and European History. In this program, the students had the opportunity to perform individual research projects and to attend many out-of-school conferences. Field trips became an important part of this year's curriculum. Classes were taken to visit such places as the Oriental Institute and the Newberry Library.

Social studies classes utilized materials from AVA. This year, programmed learning was introduced into the Social Studies Department. Under this process, the teachers made their own filmstrips concerning their respective subjects. In the extra-curricular level, the International Relations Club was formed for students interested in current events. Guest speakers and reports given by members acquainted the club with important world situations.

International Relations Club, whose subject is the modern world, is handled by David McQueen (president), Brad Ellison (vice-president), Joel Goldman (parliamentarian), and Joanne Sonn (secretary).

Technology. . .

Reasoning is the key to success at mathematics for Larry Cohen and Al Gitlis.

To prepare its students for whatever fields they choose, Niles offers a variety of mathematics courses. The one year mathematics requirement may be fulfilled by taking either General Mathematics or Algebra I. Students may then take Plane Geometry, Advanced Algebra, Solid Geometry, and Trigonometry to complete a four year sequence. Honors classes complete these courses in three years and may then take an APP course in Analytic Geometry or Calculus.

In its continuing drive to modernize its mathematics instruction, the department this year has introduced a modern algebra textbook to all first year algebra classes and a modern geometry book to the classes in Honors Geometry. Through constant effort to keep abreast of new developments in the teaching of mathematics, Niles is effectively preparing the students of today for their roles in tomorrow's worlds.

Deep concentration is the only way to solve problems.

Senior Bill Grunow evinces a look of surpise as he discovers that boiling water exerts an upward force on the flask immersed in it.

Science stimulates individual discovery.

Constantly changing, continually expanding, the world of science opens each day with new vocational opportunities for qualified people. Niles East students have an excellent opportunity to obtain a well-rounded science education by taking Biology, Physiology, Chemistry, and Physics. The honors program offers college level APP courses in Biology and Chemistry. Each of the department courses emphasizes the use of the scientific method, the universal procedure in science research. In Biology the scientific method was used to study and explore living organisms. Chemistry students were able to gather a greater understanding of the composition of both natural and man-made substances. In Physics the scientific method paved the way to the discovery of truths about the natural world by starting with simple foundations and building logically upon sound conclusions.

The Physics and Astronomy clubs provided the extra scientific experiences which could not be covered in the classroom. The Physics Club's main project was the construction of an electronic accelerator and the study of its applications in modern science. In the Astronomy Club, students gained insight into the make-up of the universe and the movement of the heavenly bodies.

The contents of the test tube is of the greatest importance to these Biology students.

Investigating complex ideas of physics are the officers of Physics Club: standing Mark Chaitkin, (1st vice president), David Messner, (secretary-treasurer), seated, Evan Rumack (vice president), Jim Withall (president) and Jerry Bernstein (2nd vice president).

Relying on the maxim that two heads are better than one, Honors Physics students Amelia Wright and Renee Sells combine their efforts to understand the significance of the data they have gathered.

Fred Nelson is learning the vehicular mechanics of the motorcycle.

The industrial arts courses at Niles stress competence and manual dexterity in preparing students for vocations after high school graduation. The boys participating in the industrial arts program are given the opportunity to probe into technical comparatively new worlds of Electronics and Automobile Mechanics. Courses are also offered in Architecture and Industrial Drawing, Metals, Printing and Woods. Students receive extremely competent instruction in the fundamentals and are then encouraged to work creatively with their hands.

These skilled craftsmen can then use their practical knowledge for the betterment of their future lives and the technological world.

These student lithographers concentrate on the complex workings of the printing press.

Keeping pace with the new developments in radio communication are the Radio Club officers: Jerry Meyerhoff (technical advisor), Michael Feldman (vice-president), and Corwyn Berger (president).

Industrial Arts stresses manual dexterity.

This girl arranges the showcase in the Sewing Room.

The Home Arts Department attempts to give its students a substantial background for future careers and home management. Clothing shows students the principles of good grooming and the skills of garment construction. A study of textiles is also incorporated into the course. Foods acquaints girls with the art, science, and skills of food preparation and the fundamentals of good nutrition. Meal planning and various methods of cooking are also included in the course. Management of family resources, care of the sick, and safety in the home are taught in the Home Management classes. Panel discussions, field trips, and films are an intricate part of this course. Housing and Home Furnishings is offered to girls interested in learning about housing needs and the financial and legal aspects also involved. The students also study home furnishings, architecture, and floor plans. Home Economics courses, which are offered on all grade levels, provide girls with the experience necessary for good homemaking.

Vocations. . .

Home Arts cultivates domestic interests.

These girls work diligently to complete their projects.

Speed and accuracy is the main goal of these typing students.

Business Education develops business interests.

These girls take a quick check on proper letter forms before the test.

Business Education courses were open to Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who wanted experience in the business world. Business Math and Bookkeeping were offered to teach students the principles of accounting. Advertising and Sales were also included in the curriculum. This year Niles was one of the first schools to acquire new equipment to aid in learning shorthand. These aids allowed students to listen to dictations at a comfortable spped, which could be increased as the student improved. The secretarial courses covered all fields of clerical work including typing and filing. For those more interested in the management aspect of business, courses such as Business Organization and Law, and Consumer Economics were offered. The diversity of this year's business courses gave students the opportunity to qualify for any business endeavor they chose to enter.

Glancing through a doorway in the Business Education wing, one can see typing students preparing for the day's lesson.

The classroom phase of Driver's Education teaches these boys the rules necessary for good driving.

Drivers Education teaches safe driving habits.

The Drivers Education Department, offering a well-coordinated program of instruction, seeks to instill in Niles East students the fundamentals of good driving. The program has three phases, each with a distinct purpose. First, all sophomore students are given a six week classroom course which emphasizes the "rules of the road" and the basic textbook concepts of driving and traffic safety. In the second phase, students operate the Aetna-Drivo Trainer machines for three weeks in order to simulate actual driving conditions. In the final "behind-the-wheel" phase, three weeks in length, the students drive automobiles under varying traffice conditions and practice the driving skills so important in our motorized age.

Nilehi students gain behind the wheel experience from the Aetna-Drivo Trainer machines.

This girl learns the proper driving techniques from Mr. Dorsey, her Driver Education instructor.

Leadership

Leadership is the rose and pin of the National Honor Society. It is the Student Council president leading a school assembly. It is the Future Teachers designing a showcase for American Education Week. Leadership is the person who is willing to take an extra responsibility and carry it to completion.

School leaders assume positions of responsibility in the community before reaching adulthood. Leadership is a candy-striper at Skokie Valley Hospital. It is the Young Democrat or Young Republican campaigning for his candidate. It is the young businessman gaining experience through Junior Achievement.

National Honor Society

The first chapter of the National Honor Society was organized in 1921. The number has since grown to 13,556 chapters in high schools all over the United States.

The purpose of National Honor Society is to encourage the development of scholarship, leadership, character, and service by giving recognition to those juniors and seniors showing these qualities.

Each year a list of all juniors and seniors with a B average is circulated to all teachers, who are asked to indicate which students they consider most worthy of election to National Honor Society. Not more than ten per cent of the senior class or three per cent of the junior class may be elected.

For the final selection of members, this data is then summarized and presented to a large faculty committee representing all school departments and activity areas.

Student Government. . .

Leading the many activities Student Council Sponsors are Scott DuBoff (vice president), Robyn Richman (secretary), Barry Perelgut (sergeant at arms), Sue Siegel (treasurer), and Steve Bernstein (president).

Student Council

This year Student Council has participated in various activities. It has worked at improving the problems of student driving and the crowded cafeteria situation. Council runs the Student lounge and maintains the school store. Council also sponsors the United Fund Drive and the Korean War orphan. By keeping the student code of ethics up to date and sending representatives to the Youth Council of Skokie and Leadership Training Conference, Council strives to maintain good citizenship. Council works to promote school spirit by sponsoring pep assemblies, gold and blue days, and East-West games festivities. The orientation program for incoming freshmen is also sponsored by Student Council. By playing a large role in school affairs, Council acts as the voice of the student body.

Lampert, R. Brownstein, L. Waxler, S. Perlman, C. Melas, and L. Weinman.

This year, the efforts of Freshmen and Sophomore Cabinets were aimed at raising money for their future proms.

Projects of Freshmen Cabinet were designing and selling pennants, and running a booth during the School Carnival. Frosh Cabinet also sought to bolster the school spirit of the freshmen by designing a unique symbol for freshmen and putting it on the pennants.

Sophomore Cabinet's pet project was the selling and the promotion of beanies. Through the motto "Button up your beanies," Sophomore Cabinet encouraged the sale of Nilehi's new fad. They also instituted a beanie week to publicize the sale.

Freshmen and Sophomore cabinets are governing bodies of the students, made up of representatives from each of the homerooms. The purpose of the Cabinets is to further the interests of their respective classes and to promote school spirit.

Junior Cabinet

Many people like to enjoy the numerous school activities but only a special few, the Junior Cabinet, will sit down and plan these programs. They were represented in Homecoming by the float "It's an Igloomy Day for the Huskies." Proceeds from the Chad Mitchell Trio Concert, which took months of hard planning, along with the profits from the class sweatshirt, class dues, and carnival booth went to the Prom fund. Besides making the money to put on the Prom, the Junior Cabinet had to choose the band, the bids, and the decorations. But these duties were not nearly as exciting as arranging the crowning of the Prom king and queen, their final job of the year.

Bringing the Chad Mitchell trio to Niles East, Junior Cabinet raised money for this year's prom.

Representing the Senior Cabinet. Back Row: S. Silverman, D. Klehr, H. Kaplan, L. Borden, B. Hall, R. Shearn, and F. Levy. Third Row: A. Lazar, J. Fetter, L. Zolt, J. Garro, R. Karzen, R. Perlman, I. Summer, B. Fisher, B. Levin. Second Row: J. Brickman, D. Boyer (treasurer), M. Newberger (vice-president), J. Sandler (president), C. Beck (secretary), I. Silverman, and M. Kay. Front Row: J. Anderson, M. Fisher, J. Newman, and D. Ehrensaft.

Senior Cabinet

Senior Cabinet's first concern of the year was the Homecoming dance. "Under the Midnight Sun" capped the end of "East to Alaska" with the crowning of the queen and her court. Also for Homecoming, the Senior class built this year's first place float "We'll Make the Huskies Mush." After mid-year finals the all school carnival was presented by the senior cabinet in order to raise money for graduation activities. Cabinet preparing for graduation exercises since the beginning of the semester, divided into special committees that handled various phases of graduation. Representatives planning the breakfast had to decide on the food, send invitations, and provide entertainment. Other committees were in charge of ordering caps and gowns, choosing the songs and speakers, writing the class will, deciding on the class gift and planning the senior picnic.

Participating in the Junior-Senior tug of war, the Seniors pulled their way to victory.

Student Service Organization

The period secretaries handle SSO office duties. Back Row: B. Cohen, B. Lerman, C. Garro, and J. Newman. Front Row: L. Blessing, S. Starkoff, and L. Schoenberg.

The Student Services Organization of Nilehie accomplishes two purposes. The first is that it relieves teachers of supervising study halls which would require valuable time on their part. The second purpose is that in doing their jobs, the SSO members learn how to be leaders.

Of the three divisions, Student Service Monitors is the largest with over twenty monitor posts each period. In addition to checking passes in the halls, SSM checks the washrooms and school entrances. The second largest division, SSSH supervises the seventy daily study halls, taking attendance and issuing detentions where necessary. Special Services Division, the smallest but an important division, has a twofold job of handling library passes and making locker checks.

But SSO is not only made up of these three divisions. In the SSO are the period secretaries and receptionists who keep records and take care of all persons having to do business in the office. In addition, the period secretaries make spot checks at the monitor posts, keeping the monitors alert for invalid passes. Finally, the SSO detention halls are supervised by members of the executive board and other top SSO members.

The SSO Executive Board composed of J. Stronberg (SSSH), L. Sacks (SSSM), C. Carlington (Head Clerk), K. Brady (Executive Chairman), and A. Nissenson (SSD), consider the coordination of SSO divisions most important for its efficiency.

Taking charge of SSO's largest division are the SSM supervisors: Back Row: P. Becker, B. Shearn, J. Ziah, B. Gevirtz, R. Karzen, and M. Mindel. Front Row: L. Sachs (Head Supervisor), J. Morris (Head Secretary), J. Adair, T. Dadigan, and B. Poindexter.

Relieving the faculty from watching study halls are the SSSH supervisors. Back Row: A. Lazar, L. November, J. Dolins, L. Shapiro, S. Applebaum, and M. Lieberman. Front Row: M. Newburger, J. Stromberg (Head Supervisor), A. Sager (Secretary), D. Minors, and T. Melas.

Concerned with library passes and lockers are the SSD supervisors. Back Row: L. Fabian, J. Smart, W. Nigut, K. Seeskin, G. Paul, and N. Chertack. Front Row: S. Williams, M. Nemkov, B. Fogel (Secretary), A. Nissenson (Head Supervisor), and I. Zarov.

Helping to guide students interested in teaching are the officers of Teacher's of Tomorrow, Ruth Kirman (president), Marlene Dolitsky (treasurer), Isabel Krupp (secretary), and Barbara Atkin (vice-president).

Recreational Activities. . .

Professional Clubs

The vocational clubs of Niles help students learn more about the occupations they may enter.

Future Nurses informs interested girls in different aspects of nursing through field trips to hospitals, guest speakers, and instructional films. During the winter season, the girls collect clothing and canned foods for needy families. At the end of the year, Future Nurses has a pinning ceremony to induct new members into the club.

Teachers of Tomorrow informs girls about different aspects of the teaching profession through field trips to colleges such as National College of Education and Chicago Teachers College, through visits to area grade schools where the girls can do practice teaching, and through guest speakers from the various fields of special education. Planning showcases during National Education Week and running the concession stands for home basketball games are two of the services TOTS provides for the school.

Working toward their future professions are the Future Nurses officers: Darlene Baumgarten (vice-president), Linda Powell (treasurer), Ellen Holland (secretary), Shirlee Diesterheft (secretary), and Carol Rogers (president).

Hobby Clubs

Chess Club officers, Stewart Metzgar (secretary), Jerry Baren(president), and Stan Cichowski (treasurer), help instruct the chess team in the tactics of the game of kings.

The hobby clubs teach students various subjects through interesting means. The Fine Arts club acquaints its members with both concert and popular music, the graphic arts, and fine literature. After coming in contact with these arts, the members discuss what they have seen or heard, pointing out what they like or dislike in the arts. By corresponding with students around the world, the Pen Pal club members learn the customs of such countries as England, Spain, and Japan while teaching their foreign friends about American ways and ideas. Chess club members improve their game by studying the games of masters and by playing among themselves. Throughout the year members take part in chess tournaments with other high schools in the Chicago and suburban area.

Encouraging interest in music, art, and literature are the Fine Arts Club officers: Cindy Rubinstein (president) and Joanne Sonn (secretary).

Corresponding with teens in other lands are the officers of the Pen Pal Club: Karen Frandzel (president), Ellen Beaver (secretary), Barbara Marcus (treasurer), and Darina Ward, (secretary).

Planning activities to benefit both school and community are Tri-Hi-Y officers: P. Quirk (vice-president), S. Middaught (treasurer), R. Kavanaugh (president), K. Plough (chaplain), and M. Oram (secretary).

Service Clubs

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y, affiliates with the YM–YWCA organizations, include both recreation and service projects in their yearly programs. Tri-Hi-Y collects canned goods and clothing for families on relief during the Thanksgiving holiday and goes carolling for the invalids at the Masonic Hospital at Christmas time. Hi-Y serves the school by providing coat checks at the many school activities. The highlight of the year for both clubs is sending representatives to the state convention for YM–YWCA organizations during the spring vacation.

AVA and PSO make available to the school many services very valuable in teaching. Audio-Visual Aids not only show movies but construct various charts, posters, and other signs for all teachers who need them. Photographic Services Organization takes and processes photographs for the school.

Keeping Hi-Y running smoothly are its officers. Back Row: B. Warnke (coordinator), J. Bonow (coordinator), and B. Peterson (treasurer). Front Row: J. Schacht (chaplain), N. Sandstrom (vice-president), and A. Semrow (president).

Assisting the school in training student photographers are PSO officers Phil Schoenwolf (president), James Gallai (chairman), and Leonard Sneider (vice-president).

Al Semrow (vice president), Lane Marinello (president), and Stan Cichowski (secretary-treasurer), officers of AVA supervise its vast operations.

Auxiliary Clubs

There are clubs at Niles which exist not only for the pleasure of its members but also to render a service to the school.

Pep Club works to lift team spirits by cheering at all football and basketball games. It also sells pompoms and helps at the concession stands.

The Library Assistants help with the endless tasks resulting from running a large school library, such as processing new books and overdue notices and keeping the bookshelves neat. Each year, the Library Assistants attend a luncheon in their honor.

The members of Usher's Club serve as hostesses at school functions. To be a member, a girl must usher at least three times during the year at various plays, assemblies, and open houses.

Aiding the librarians in their many tasks are the Library Aids. Back Row: J. Greenberg, M. Dissen, S. Rosenzweig, S. Greenwald, L. Baron, A. Klein, and D. Baumgarten. Second Row: E. Bernat, D. Athletics

Athletics develops not only a sound body but also good sportsmanship. Daily physical educational classes provide exercise and activity for all students in the school. Team sports and the GAA program provide other avenues of athletic preparation for interested students.

The city gives the student the opportunity to use its recreational facilities. Ice skating, horse-back riding, skiing, and golfing are a few of the sports a student can enjoy. Through professional sports such as baseball, football, and hockey, a student can cultivate a lasting interest in athletics.

Former Heavyweight Champion of the World Jack Dempsey, with the aid of the N-Club, presented an assembly on the subject of athletics and sportsmanship in the professional world.

GAA members invite elementary school students to visit Niles and learn about the GAA program during the annual GAA playday.

Basketball, one of Nilehi's favorite sports, provides action for both players and spectators.

Fall . . .

Gridsters tried, but failed to win

Despite great courage and determination, the varsity football squad was again unable to score in the winning column during the 1963 season. Dropping their opener to Niles West by a 26-7 margin, the Men of Troy tried to break their losing streak, but bowed to the remaining teams they met. It was not until the Homecoming game that the Trojans scored in double figures. Ending the first quarter the game was tied between East and Oak Park after Glenn Paul scored on a one yard punch. However, in the proceeding quarters Oak Park racked up an additional 34 points which proved to be too much, even though Ron Shaffer scored on two touchdown passes, giving East its highest score of the past three seasons. Two games and two quarterbacks later the season ended, as Kent Brody and Tom Coleman took turns piloting the team. Another split in '64 will mean added football bolstering. But the new fundamentals and techniques taught by Mr. Yursky and the other coaches will be valuable additions to next years' teams at both East and North.

Sophs best of all squads

Winning three of their Suburban League games, Coach Odlivak's sophomore football squad showed a strong offense and a tough defense in their performances. Though the line was broken, it was enough to stem the offenses of Waukegan and Proviso to just several touchdowns each.

The season began with the defeat of West, much to the joy of East's spirited fans. The backfield's excellent ball-handling proved too much for Morton East's Mustangs and Oak Park's Huskies. The latter match was the Homecoming game, which was witnessed by several tousand stimulated fans and proud boosters.

The squad's 3-5 record was the best of the four football teams, and from it, promising candidates for a winning varsity team developed.

Frosh find going tough

The frosh A and B football squads achieved season records of 0-7 and 2-5, respectively. Remaining winless throughout the season, it took six games before the A team could score a T.D. and climbed to 12 points in the Proviso East game. After the B team dropped their opener to Waukegan, they bounced back to overpower Highland Park by a 20-6 victory and also took their arch rival, Niles West, by a 6-0 margin. Under their coaches, the frosh boys have begun on the road to varsity playing.

The varsity harriers overran Maine West and Schurz, two of the strongest teams they met. Highlighting the season was the triumph over our sister-school, Niles West, in front of a crowd of 4,000 cheering fans, and the tying of the Bunker Hill Course school record by the hardworking Lieberman and Norm Sandstrom.

The season ended with a disappointing loss to Morton East by the equal score of 1962, 28-27. The return of such runners as Gunderson, Rick Schatz, and Bob Gardiner will add much experience to next year's edition of the cross country team.

Mitch Paradise and Roger Scott keep up an exhausting pace making a turn on the Bunker Hill course.

Sophs meet rugged competition

Under the coaching of Mr. Richard Murphy, the Sophomore cross country squad was one of the finest Nilehi has seen in many years. Compiling six wins against eight losses, this year's team showed a great improvement over last year's record of 3-16. Placing sixth in the Suburban League Sophomore meet and seventh in the league standings, the team was led by Sophomore Dan Neilson, who ran part of the season on the varsity level, and Freshman Bob Schabilion, who now holds the sophomore course record.

Improvements shown in varsity record

The 1963 edition of the Trojan basketball squad finished the season with a record of two wins and sixteen losses. However, that record does not give an accurate picture of the team. A great number of games were lost by margins of four or less points. The prowess of senior Bob Shearn led the team to fine performances in every game played. Coached by Mr. Haselton and assisted by Mr. Carter, the Trojans triumphed over Leyden East and Evanston. Outstanding among many fine players were juniors Glen Solberg and Gil Ravelette, who in each game placed highest in the scoring column.

The Evanston game was the highlight of the season, when Ravelette sank 30 points to lead both teams. In the Leyden East game, he was also high man with 15. The team was augmented in power when Barry Schoeller and Don Siegel were called up to the varsity from the J.V. team.

J.V. & Sophs gain playing experience

Playing against the other Suburban League teams, the sophomore basketball squad won two games and lost twelve, four of which were dropped by four or less points. Coached by Mr. VanCleave, the sophomore cagers overpowered Evanston at the beginning of the season by a 53-41 margin. After being defeated by Waukegan, the team scored 50 points to Proviso East's 36 for their last victory of the season. The competition the team met gave new insight into the techniques and fundamentals of basketball to the boys, which will make them helpful additions to the varsity teams of next year.

The Junior Varsity squad fared the best of the five cager teams at Nilehi. Dropping their Waukegan game by a one point margin, the J.V.'s avenged their loss by defeating Proviso East in their next game by a score of 63-35. Coached by Mr. Carter, the team finished the season with an 8-3 record to rank first in the league. Two convincing victories over Highland Park and New Trier showed promise for next year's basketball season.

Grapplers view state honors

Wrestling was one of the biggest sports at Niles in 1964, as the varsity squad posted a 5-1-1 league record for second place in the Suburban League. The matmen's only defeat came at the hands of the defending state champion Waukegan Bulldogs.

Before qualifying seven wrestlers for the sectional tournament, the Men of Troy took second place in the district meet. Throughout the season, the team was led by seniors, Howie Rosenbaum and Mark Newburger, who took first and third places respectively at the state meet. Throughout the season, Rosenbaum remained undefeated while Newburger lost one match.

The Junior varsity team compiled a 2-5 record by opening and the closing the season with victories. The first win came over Palatine by a 31-25 margin and the final win came from the rugged New Trier squad with a 31-15 tally.

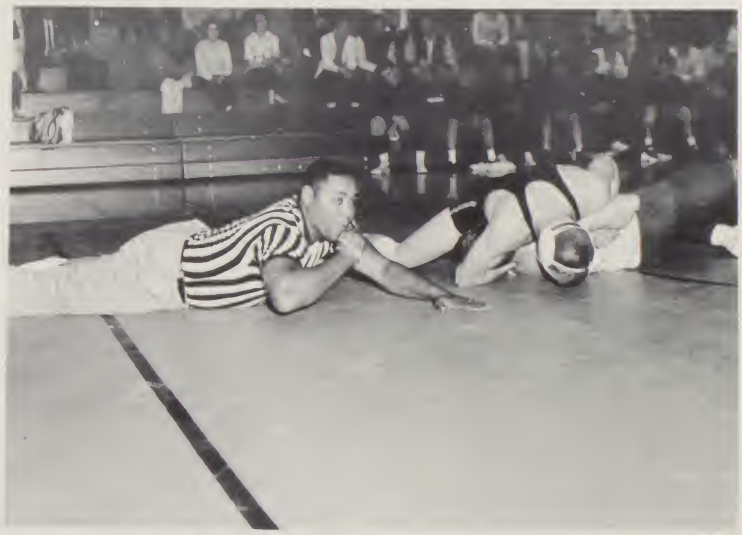
Frosh-Soph show fighting spirit

The sophomore wrestling squad concluded a very successful season in 1964, as it composed a record of 9-1-1. After winning their first two meets by large margins, the sophomore Trojans deadlocked with Evanston; Niles then defeated all remaining opponents except Waukegan. Outstanding performers throughout the season were Bill Wiser, John DeGraffenreid, and Scott Seigel. The decisive win over Proviso East by a 25 point margin showed the team's power. This strong group of grapplers will greatly bolster the continuing great Niles wrestling tradition.

The frosh team with a 2-9 record placed fourth in the New Trier Freshman Quadrangular. With wins over Highland Park and Morton East, the freshmen only need more experience to extend a winning season for Nilehi wrestlers.



The referee signifies a pin for five points paving the way for an East win.

Placing high in their league and district meets and in the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational, Niles had one of the most successful season in recent years.

Steady point getters this year were seniors John Simon, Ron Rojo, and Fred Streicher. Juniors also played a vital role in the season. Among the most promising are Ira Zarov, Jim Harrington, and Jim Bonow.

Frosh-Soph give fine showing

A convincing 64-31 victory over Maine East closed the season for the sophomore swimmers. Winning nine out of fourteen meets, the sophs were led by future varsity performers Al Greene, Don Wicker, and Jamie Heller. After defeating West Leyden by 77 points, the sophs went on to beat the next four teams they met. The team captured third place in the Suburban League meet and took fourth place in league standings.

Coach Rusk's frosh swimmers finished in third place in the league, the highest any East swimming team has been in the past several years. With losses to only New Trier and Evanston, the frosh won most of its meets by margins of at least 30 paints. The frosh ended the season by taking third place at the league meet.

Though edged out of first place honors at the state meet, Niles East's superb gymnastics team showed consistent excellence in every meet. Led by state champions Dale Hardt in tumbling, Ron Rapper on parallel bars, and Mark Slotten of side horse, the gymnasts lost only one league meet. Their defeat to Evanston, however, was more than avenged with East's sweep of the Evanston Invitational. This come-from-behind win ot the Suburban League crown was by an all-time high score.

Several welcomed surprises of the season included sophomore Ron Rapper's tie for the state championship on the parallel bars, and freshman Barry Slotten's fine performances on the varsity level. The cousin of the state side horse champion tumbled his way to several third place awards, showing his teammates varsity determination and excellence.

Racketmen look toward winning season

The outlook for the 1964 tennis season appears excellent with many members of last year's fine quad returning to the Nilehi courts. In 1963, the netsters tallied sixth place in the league standings with a 2-5 dual meet record and a sixth place in the league meet. The return of Bob Poindexter and Denny Dicks, Coach Morgan's leading doubles team performers in 1963, plus the racket wielding of juniors Steve Williams and Ron Siegel will add strength to both offensive and defensive strategy of the 1964 squad.

Coached by Mr. Winans, the frosh-soph also appear destined to a season full of tennis victories.

Coach Morgan gives some pre-season playing tips to Stan Rossman, Dick Wolf, and Bob Poindexter.

Golfmen remain up to par

With returning lettermen Bob Ruttenberg, Ron Pearlman, Steve Silverman, and Ron Rojo plus Bob Tepper and Karl Gabbey, prospects appear bright for a fine golf campaign in 1964. Last year's linksters finished the season with a 2-5 league and 2-7 overall record, a great improvement over the previous year's winless season. At the Suburban League meet, Coach Kiviluoma's golfers managed a seventh place finish, while the frosh-soph team under the coaching of Mr. Starr placed eighth.

The varsity team is composed of ten golfers of whom only five may play in dual meet competition. Only by challenging and defeating a member of this group may a golfer advance to the starting five.

Bob Ruttenberg follows through on the swing that has made him the number one golfer on the team.

The Niles East varsity track squad finished the indoor season with a faultless 11-0 record. Junior Neil Chertack shattered the existing pole vault record at the Suburban League meet where East copped fifth place. As Chertack took first by clearing 13 feet 1/2 inch, Ron Banion placed second in the shotput, and Phil Becker finished fourth in both the broad-jump and the 440-yard run. In competition with Palatine, the one-mile relay team of Roger Scott, Ron Kaufman, Loren Levin, and Phil Becker set a new record of 3:53.7. Coach McCarrell's cindermen were reinforced for the outdoor track season when Bert Hall, Doug Kornelly, and Barry Schoeller joined the ranks of the team at the close of the basketball campaign.

Easily clearing the first of the low hurdles, Roger Scott continues on the path to a practice victory.

Mark Lieberman, Norm Sandstrom, Steve Dory, and Larry Shapiro jog around the track after a one-mile run.

Varsity diamondmen give good showing

Probable outfield starters for the Trojans are Al Harris, Bob Walner, Tony Melas, and Fred Fishman.

Closing the 1963 season with their first double win in two years, the Trojan diamondmen earned a 6-8 record, placing them in a fifth place league tie with the Evanston Wildkits. The return this year of veteran pitchers Al Manasin and Bob Gevirtz and aided by outfielders Tony Melas, Bob Walner, and Al Harris plus lettermen infielders Mark Newburger, Dick Minors, and Bob Shearn, should give Coach Odlivak the nucleus of a team that should place high in league competition. If the Trojan's victory last year over Suburban League Champion, Oak Park, is any sign of the 1964 season, the Niles diamondmen should give all schools a great deal of excellent competition this year.

Back Row: Coach Odlivak, R. Shaffer, E. Barnett, D. Lazzar, M. Prousis, A. Silverstein, N. Winstead, G. Ravelette, M. Stricker, A. Manasin, Coach Rusk. Third Row: B. Shearn, D. Minors, J. Fencers finish with two state champs

Chuck Suritz and Peter Trobe salute each other before engaging in a duel.

After only two seasons of organized competition, the Niles East fencing team, coached by Mr. Robert Keen, has become one of the most powerful squads in the state. Led by junior Chuck Suritz, freshman Glen Kalin, and sophomores Harvey Harris and Pete Trobe, the fencers finished with a record of four wins and four defeats. The team demonstrated its power at the Illinois State Invitational Meet, where they placed three men in the finals, giving East a second place trophy. Coming in second to John Marshall High School, the Trojans beat the powerful team from St. Mel. Suritz took second place, Harris came in third, and Kalin finished seventh. Next year East can expect another second place or the state championship as most of the squad members will return.

N-Club loses to faculty in near upset

The N-Club had an extremely successful year of operation in 1963-64 as several new innovations were added to its activities. In addition to the presentation of the traditional N-Club-faculty game and the initiations of new members at two Student Unions, these Trojans sponsored the assembly featuring a speech by former Heavyweight Champion of the world, Jack Dempsey.

Helping to promote school spirit, the club challenges the faculty to a basketball game. In the 1964 game, the faculty overpowered the lettermen as the N-Club has been beaten in every game since East became a four-year school. Sponsored by Mr. Henderson, the lettermen. The N-Club has been beaten in every game since East became a four-Several members of the club include class officers as well as leaders of many other school organizations. The N-Club has undoubtedly been a valuable contributor to the greatness of Niles East.

Elected by the G.A.A. Board because of their great leadership qualities and their participation in the activities planned during the year are the G.A.A. officers: Kathy Plough (president), Linda Grimson (vice-president), Marlene Weinberg (vice-president), and Alexis Zabore (secretary).

G.A.A. encourages leadership

More than two hundred girls enjoy the after school activities sponsored by G.A.A. The sports are planned according to season. Fall sports include field hockey and golf; winter sports include softball and tennis; and all year activities include Orchesis, the modern dance club, and Ripplettes, the swim club.

G.A.A. tries not only to develop leadership and good sportsmanship, but also teaches the girls poise, skill, and perfection.

G.A.A. not only concerns itself with sports, but this year has sponsored a float, "Rocket Thru To Victory," which took a second place in class A float competition at this year's Homecoming. As this year's service project, a poll was taken among all the girls in the school to determine their attitude toward the G.A.A. program. Another project was treating the incoming freshmen girls to a "Play-day" by the members of G.A.A. to introduce them to the G.A.A. program. Closing the year, the new members were initiated and the active members received their awards for participation in G.A.A. activities. The G.A.A. scholarship for four hundred dollars was also awarded to the senior girl who plans to major in physical education.

One of the many events G.A.A. participates in is Homecoming. All G.A.A. members help in the construction and the decorating of the annual Homecoming Float which, this year, placed second in the class A competition.

Opinions about G.A.A.'s program in sports were taken from all the girls in school. Tallying the poll are, back row: Deena Ratner, Lynn Kiviluoma, Flora Gryn, Judy Dreyfuss, Kathy Plough, Marcia Cohen, and Cindy Guerrero. Front Row: Carol Gore, Kathy Guerrero, Linda Raphael, and Lorel Glassner.

Even freshmen have a chance to show their spirit at Niles and they are lead by the Freshmen cheerleaders: Sandra Siegel, Carolyn Dowlin, Betty Romanek, and Joan Miller.

Cheerleaders symbolize spirit

Leading Sophomore teams to victory are the Soph cheerleaders: Kathy Capettini, Diane Swenson, Kathy Jones, Carolyn Haselton, and Sue Mermeistien.

Enthusiastic jumps are a trademark of the Sophomore cheerleading squad: Carolyn Haselton, Sue Mermelstien, Kathy Capettini, Diane Swenson, and Kathy Jones.

Co-captain of the Varsity Cheerleading Squad this year, Cynthia Garro has been a cheerleader since her sophomore year at Niles. This is her second year as a Varsity cheerleader.

In Lynn Kaselow's fourth year of cheerleading, she was chosen co-captain of the Varsity squad. She was a Freshman, Sophomore, and two year Varsity Cheerleader.

Whether Niles is in the winning or the loosing column, one bright light is always shining, our cheerleaders. Always present at our football and basketball games, the cheerleaders lead the school with their pep and enthusiasm.

The cheerleaders are divided on three levels: Freshmen, Sophomore, and Varsity. The cheerleaders cheer respectively for the Freshmen, Sophomore, and Varsity teams. Cheerleaders are chosen on the basis of their coordination, skill, sportsmanship, and enthusiasm. They are required to do a flex, straight, and arch jump, a stunt, such as a flip or a cartwheel, a group cheer, and an individual cheer when they try out for cheerleading.

During the summer, a few of the cheer leaders are chosen to spend a week at the cheerleading camp at Illinois Normal. At the cheerleading camp, the girls learn new types and varieties of cheers, and also better their personality by meeting different girls from all over Illinois.

While our Cheerleaders' motions are always changing, their purpose remains the same - to cheer our teams on to victory and to promote school spirit. This year our cheerleaders were able, for the first time in two years, to do one of their many victory cheers which they can only do when one of our teams win.

Win or loose, the Varsity cheerleaders are always cheering their hearts out.

Varsity

Junior Janice Kamps has been a cheerleader since her freshman year. This is her first year on Varsity.

Linda Schoenberg is in her fourth year of cheerleading and was captain of the Sophomore squad. She has always shown her school spirit.

This is Kathy Haselton's first year as a Varsity cheerleader although she was a substitute in her junior year. She is now a senior.

Bonnie Lerman has been a cheerleader since her sophomore year and is now a senior.

Ann Harmening, who is noted for her pep and enthusiasm, has been a cheerleader since her freshman year. This is her first year as a Varsity cheerleader and she is now a junior.

Senior Donna Veto has had three years of cheerleading experience behind her and is known for her devotion to the Varsity teams.

Performing before elementary school students, Mr. Provost and the concert band introduce Nilehi's musical talent to future East students.

Arts

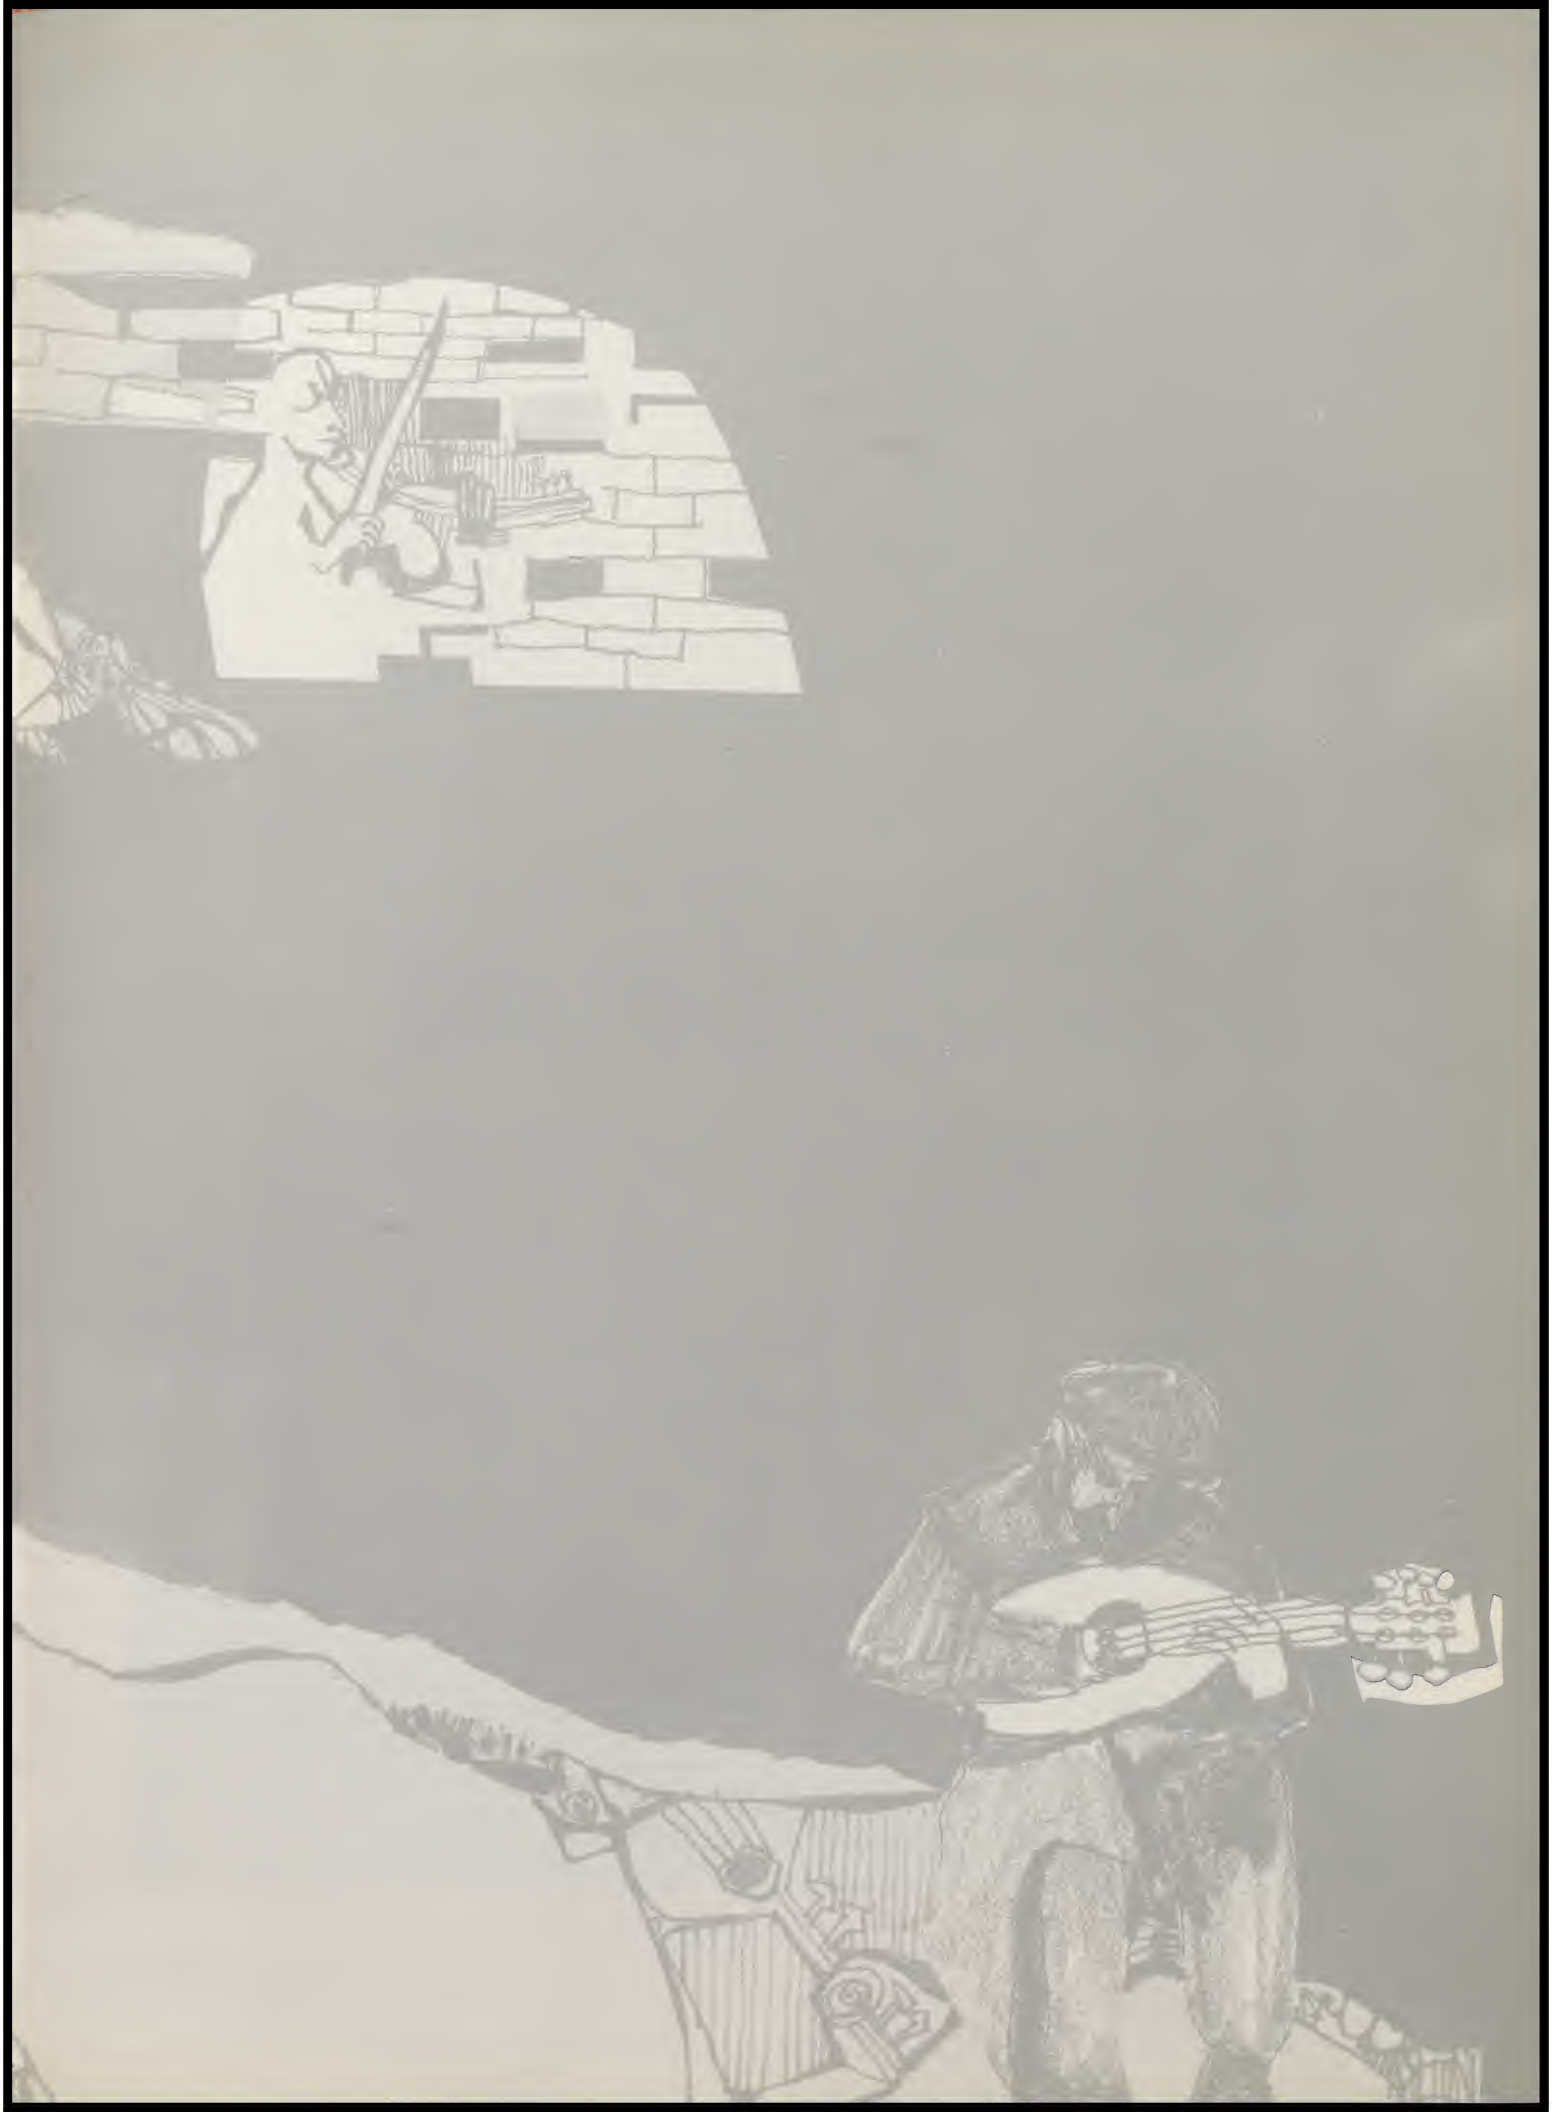
Looking from the stage manager's position in the wings, one sees a boisterous party going on at "Auntie Mame's."

An unusual modern art piece in the Morton Wing at the Art Institute captures the interest of passersby.

Arts in the school provide an outlet for creative expression. Drama produtions introduce students to the theatre while giving student actors and crews the practical experience of staging a show. Through the vocal and instrumental groups, students develop their musical abilities and interests. With the varied art curri culum, students can cultivate their talents in the graphic arts.

Using the city as a cultural center, students expand their interests in the arts. The legitimate theatre, symphony, opera folk concerts, and art exhibits are among the diverse cultural fields available to students.

Backstage clamor in the dressing room enhances the excitement of "Reflections '64" for East students.



Drama - On Stage. . .

Sharon (Karen Kessler) is startled by the sudden appearance of Og (Jeff Siegal), as he tries to find the whereabouts of his stolen gold.

On April 5 and 6, 1963, Finian McLongergan burst onto the stage at Nilehi East, bringing the first Broadway musical to the school. This amusing comedy, under the direction of Mr. Earle Auge and Miss Virginia Stemp, told the tale of an eccentric old Irishman, Finian, and his daughter, Sharon. A mischevious leprechaun, Og, followed Finian to Missitucky, U.S.A. in pursuit of his crock of gold which Finian had stolen. The problems of integration and romance effected Finian, Og, and Sharon in peculiar ways. Sharon fell in love with Woody, the leader of the tobacco growing people; Og gave up his pursuit of the gold to become a Human; and Finian cured Senator Rawkins of his prejudice against the Negroes. This presentation brought life to the stage and ended with all problems solved and a happy chorus of "How Are Things in Gloca Morra."

Finian (John Issac) quarrels with his daughter (Karen Engstrom) about her romance with Woody, a Missitucky farmer.

Woody Mahoney (Jack Mise) relates tales of his naval career to the Missitucky Valley dwellers.

Captain Fisby (Ray Dean) enjoys his first taste of saki as Captain McLean (Chuck Solomon), Sakini (Pete Sereni), and Sgt. Gregovich (Joe Fagan) await their turn.

"Teahouse" Casts A Glow of Oriental Enchantment

The United States Army has been involved in few situations more peculiar than that of Captain Fisby of the post-war Japanese Occupation Forces in Niles East's production of Teahouse of The August Moon. In Niles' first "three nighter" of May 2,3, and 4, a series of elaborate set designs paralleled a series of mad-cap events beginning when stubborn and excitable Colonel Wainwright Purdy III assigned Captain Fisby and Sakini, the helpful and sometimes troublesome interpreter, to Tobiki village. Accompanied by Lady Astor, a friendly goat, Captain Fisby at last arrived at the village and soon met a more delicate lady, the lovely geisha girl, Lotus Blossom.

Fisby and Captain McLean, a neurotic psychiatrist who loved botany, helped the village to set up a prosperous business of selling its wine and to construct the beautiful Teahouse of the August Moon. The entire village watched as Lotus Blossom and the brightly costumed Geisha Girls gave life to the teahouse with the mystic dances of Japan. The powerful temper of Colonel Purdy could not destroy the supposedly "immoral" wine-stills and teahouse of Tobiki Village, and Captain Fisby left behind him a happy and prosperous village underneath the romantic summer moon of Japan.

Lady Astor, with her radiant beauty and magnetic charm, mystifies Japanese children.

"No one is too 'off-beat' for my parties," Mame (Terri Friedlander) explains to her nephew (Steve Myerson).

"Auntie Mame" Plays Hostess To an Evening of Fun and Madness.

Take a wealthy, wily aunt who gives wild parties for Lithuanian bishops and not-so-ordinary businessmen, dash in an inherited young nephew accompanied by an overprotective nanny, stir and mix in a rich southern bachelor who owns a cotton plantation, sprinkle in a few tears, lots of laughs, some suspense, a world tour, and even a happy ending, and be prepared to serve "Auntie Mame," this year's fall play, staged on November 22 and 23.

"Auntie Mame" is Patrick Dennis's hilarious story of his aunt, who, after losing all her money in the 1929 stock market crash, went to work at Macy's to put him through school. Bouregarde Jackson Pickett Burnside, a rich southern gentleman, met her at work, and the courtship culminated in a lavish wedding. For a honeymoon, Mame and her husband toured the world. However, only Mame returned, for Bouregarde tumbled from a mountain peak. Mame "settled down" at home to write her memoirs with the aid of the efficient but pathetic Agnes Gooch. By this time, Patrick had grown into manhood, and Mame became his advisor for the lovelorn. All ended happily as Mame set out on a new adventure.

The director of "Auntie Mame", Mr. Alvin Schwartz, gives last minute instructions to Stage Manager Ron Hoffberg and actors.

Windy City passes in review

The theatre floor show comes alive again through the singing of Sally Charman and Peggy Rosenbaum.

The silly clown, Marilyn Silton, falls in love with a beautiful but unresponding statue, Sande Salstone.

"Windy City Revue," this year's Reflections Revelries, blew onto the Nilehi stage on February seventh and eighth. The show was not a talent show, as it had been in the past; rather, it was a pooling of the talents of 120 Nilehiers into a topical musical review concerning Chicago.

Among the acts were ones taking place at Grant Park, Marshall Field & Company, Wrigley Field, State Street at night, and the circus. From the jazz dances to the flamenco guitar to the full-stage live band, the show was a complete success, and the Drama Department will model all future Reflections after it.

Poor but happy, Janus Vedder, Pat Herter, Rita Kavanaugh, and Betty Anderson stroll gaily through the park.

Luminous spirits gliding across the Chicago scene make the night come alive.

Drama - Back Stage. . .

Mr. Schwartz barks last-minute orders to his panicy stage crew as the show begins.

Quick and efficient, Gary Kurc and Barry Issacson finish the task of shifting scenery.

Most of the credit for a dramatic production is given to those in the spotlight, for they are publicized prior to the performance by photographers and reporters and are seen on stage at the performance. However, just as important to the success of a production as the players are those whose job is to make the players' performance visible, audible, and enjoyable - namely, the backstage crew.

Behind the scenes activity takes many forms. The make-up crew is kept busy preparing performers with fresh make-up and changes of costume between scenes; the stage crew sets up scenery and controls the curtain; the sound crew monitors the microphones; the lighting crew controls the house and stage lights and the spotlights; and the prop crew procures and doles out any necessary equipment. All these crews must be coordinated to produce a successful program. Much credit goes to the backstage crews and to their faculty advisors - Mr. Fink, Mr. Schwartz, and Miss Stemp.

The application of make-up is an integral part of any production.

Paula Lubeznick skillfully affects a metamorphosis with make-up on Richard Gregory.

Ruth Waldfogel takes fiendish delight in fashioning a new face for Perry Tasky.

Gaining experience for future drama careers are Thespians' officers Wendy Arbit (president), Bonnie Sussman (vice-president), Lonnie Gerstein (secretary), Fred Reiner (treasurer), and Dawn Schafer (recording secretary).

Drama - Supporting The Stage. . .

The trained members of Tecnis, Niles East's Technical Instruments and Services Organization, handle technical aspects of school activities. The major function of this service club is the handling of lighting, sound, and technical stage work for all performances held at Niles, including school plays and musicals. A great deal of knowledge and skill is needed to handle the elaborate equipment involved in these activities. The members of Tecnis advance by experience from regular members to apprentices and finally to master technicians.

To become a member of the National Thespian Society, one must earn ten points for one hundred hours of work on or behind the stage in dramatic productions at Niles. Membership in Thespians, an honorary society, is a goal aimed for by student actors and crew-workers and is achieved only through hard work and perseverance. Membership often proves to be one step toward a future career in drama.

The purpose of Spotlighters is to promote interest and enthusiasm in the field of drama. The members learn dramatic techniques and also skills of behind the stage work, for acting is only a small part of the large field of drama. Members are given the opportunity to practice these skills or witness them in action at the theater itself.

Members of Tecnis work backstage with tape recordings.

The Winter Music Festival, the Spring Music Festival, the Spring Musical –these were some of the annual musical events brought to the people of Skokie by the vocal groups of Niles East. Under the direction of Mr. Earle Auge, the choir, girls glee, and mixed glee groups were active in school assemblies and productions, while the Lorelei sang for PTAs and women's clubs. Assisting the vocal groups at many of their functions were the instrumental groups–the concert orchestra and concert band–under the direction of Mr. Auge and Mr. Leo Provost. In December, the combined efforts of the vocal and instrumental groups produced the holiday Winter Festival. Spring brought April and May, and with them came the Spring Musical "Carousel" and the May Music Festival.

Music - Instrumental. . .

During the past years the instrumental groups of the Niles East Music Department have provided entertainment for the school and the community at the many musical productions. The concert orchestra, conducted by Mr. Earle Auge, helped present the Winter Music Festival and the Spring Music Festival. The Music Department also worked in the spring musical, "Carousel," along with the Drama Department. The concert band, under the direction of Mr. Leo Provost, played at football and basketball games, and at pep rallies throughout the year. Many of the musicians in the concert band are chosen to be members of the concert orchestra and the stage band. The stage band entertained students and faculty at school assemblies, and special functions, and thus the members of the stage band gained experience in a specialized form of performing.

In addition to the concert orchestra, concert band, and stage band, the Music Department of Niles East also provides a beginning band, the Cadet Band, in which prospective musicians learn the basic skills of group performance. Many of these people will compose the concert orchestra and concert band in their upperclass years at Niles.

Music - Performing. . .

The concert choir, girls' glee, and the concert orchestra perform together under the direction of Mr. Earle Auge at the Winter Music Festival.

The spirit of Christmas filled the room; beautiful Christmas melodies filled the air. Such was the scene in the Niles East Auditorium on December 15, 1963 as the entire music department, under the direction of Mr. Earle Auge and Mr. Leo Provost, combined their efforts to produce a most enjoyable Winter Music Festival.

Performing in the hour-long program were the Concert Choir, Girls Glee, Lorelei, and the Concert Orchestra. Selections included favorite Christmas, Hanukah, and winter melodies, featuring The Lord's Prayer, Palestinian Nights, and The Sleigh Ride. The concert concluded with the very difficult but very beautiful Hallelujah Chorus. These melodies and others were repeated for the enjoyment of students and faculty during an all school assembly following Sunday's performance.

The 1963 Winter Music Festival was a great success and a great achievement for the entire music department.

Art. . .

Art Department brushes aside the old

By expanding its facilities and curriculum, the Art Department has provided a program appealing to all art students of Niles. Its four-year series of courses includes a study of and participation in painting, sculpture, pottery, printing, jewelry, textile making, and graphic design. A course in art history is offered in which the students hear lectures four days of the week concerning different periods of art, and work on projects concerned with that period of art on the fifth day. Also, for those people wishing to sample what the art department offers, there is a one semester art laboratory in which students receive a small introduction to each of the many facets of art.

All of these courses are given in the newly remodeled art rooms which have been supplied with new desks and cabinets in which the student's works can now be stored. Also new in the Art Department is a giant kiln and a room for showing art history movies.

Art Council is the extra-curricular organization of the Art Department through which students may further their art learning by listening to guest speakers and working in the more advanced subjects themselves. At various times during the year the council presents a hootenanny in which students and teachers participate by playing and singing their favorite folk songs. Highlighting the Art Council's program is its recently organized annual art show and auction. At the show, the students' best works are displayed for the enjoyment of parents and other students. Afterward, those objects donated by students are auctioned off to the public, the proceeds going to the Art Council's treasury.

Occasions

Occasions in the school are those special days exciting to live and remember. Homework forgotten, students spend long hours creating the magic of Homecoming and Prom nights. School routine is interrupted by bermuda day, special assemblies, and graduation practice.

In the city, a student enjoys community occasions or celebrates his own. The Thanksgiving Parade, the Chicagoland Music Festival, and the International Trade Fair are events the student witnesses. Or he can come to glamorous Rush Street as a climax to a special dance.

The glamour of Rush Street provides sophisticated entertainment for after-dance celebrations.

A romantic carriage ride through picturesque Old Town ends a very special evening.

The climactic event of each year is Prom night.

East vs. West

in friendly competition

One of the most exciting facets of the high school year is East-West Competition. Competition between the two schools has become part of the Nilehi tradition. In past years Niles East and Niles West have challenged each other in football, basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, swimming and baseball. This year they also competed in track.

Although Niles West does not belong to the suburban league as does Niles East, competition between the two schools is just as exciting as if not more than official league competition. Although Niles East was defeated in football and basketball, this year she was victorious in track, wrestling, and gymnastics. Competition was equally as fierce in the spring. These games between Niles East and Niles West have become a tradition promoting good sportsmanship.

Homecoming: East to Alaska

The night before . . .

The student body shows its enthusiastic spirit as they support our team at the Twilight Pep assembly.

Phil Becker and Larry Lazarus put last minute details on the S.S.O. float.

Homecoming weekend is the climax to months of work. But Homecoming itself is a frame of mind, a spirit which hovers about the school weeks before the actual weekend ever begins. Months of time and energy are spent in its planning: floats must be built, a parade must be organized, and a queen must be selected. These efforts were the real beginnings of Homecoming '63.

October 18 began the weekend with a Twilight Pep Rally that spread the Homecoming mood. Brilliant fireworks presented by Booster Club kindled the spirits of all Nilehiers. The announcement of the new reigning Queen was an added highlight of the evening as was the Junior-Senior-Tug-of-War in which the Seniors triumphed. The pep assembly over, students parted for neighborhood garages to participate in the hilarious and frantic job of constructing floats.

Fireworks, fun, petal paper, and pep: this was the night but the day was still to come . . . East to Alaska, Homecoming 1963.

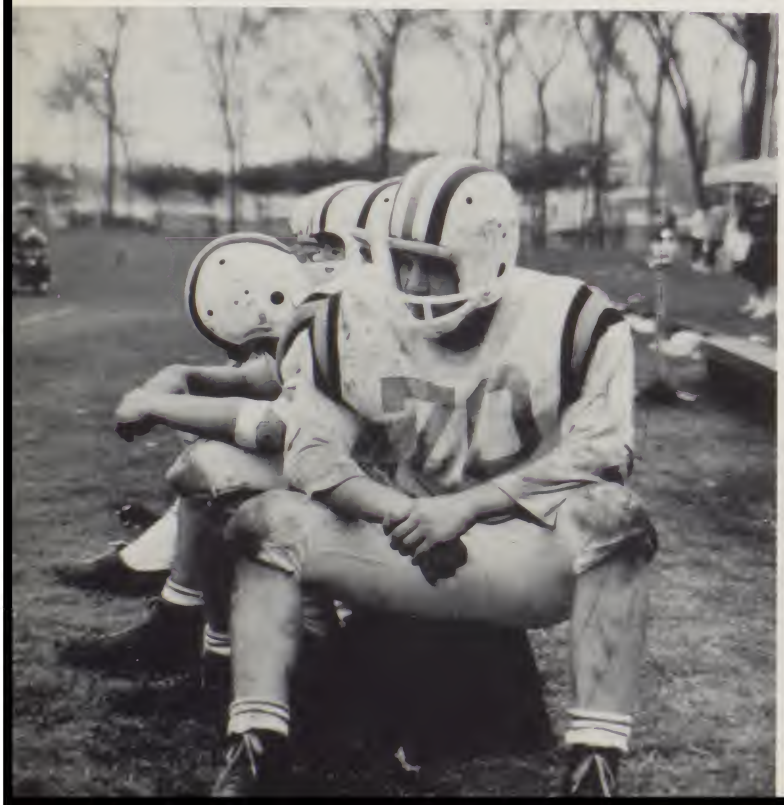
Seated regally on the homecoming float are Queen, Cynthia Garro, and her court, Linda Blessing, Judy Brickman, Janis Kamps, and Michelle Flicht.

Homecoming committee back row: Al Nissenson, Irene Silverman, Arlene Sager, Nancy Joslyn, Eileen Boosales, Barb Fisher, Karen Dreffin, and Sandy Salstone. Front Row: Paul Gallis, John Simon (treasurer), Corrie Carlington (director), Al Feder (assistant director), Janet Harris (secretary), and Jay Adair have worked hard to make 1963-64 homecoming a success.

The Day . . .

Students and curious shoppers watch the homecoming parade as it proceeds through Downtown Skokie.

"What's wrong?" thinks dejected football player, Morry Sapoznik, at the homecoming game.



The half closed eyes of sleepy students greeted the sunrise on Saturday, October 19. After a restless night, they eagerly anticipated the oncoming parade of floats and the results of the float competition. Each year homecoming floats are divided into three divisions: A, the large trailer floats; B, the small trailer floats; and C, the decorated cars.

At 10:00 A.M. the parade left the Old Orchard Theatre parking lot and traveled through Skokie back to the school for the ensuing football game. Just before the varsity game, the winning floats paraded around the field. "We'll Make the Huskies Mush," the Senior Cabinet's float; "Our Spirit Will Sleigh 'Em," the Varsity Cheerleader's float; and "Baked Alaska," an independent float placed among the year's winners and received the prize money which had been donated by the Nilehi PTA and Booster Club.

Although the game itself was a Niles defeat, the Trojans fought hard and well. The students too showed their victorious spirit when they let loose their gold and blue balloons after the Trojan's first touchdown. But Homecoming was not yet over. The homecoming dance was to become the crowning touch to a wonderful weekend.

The Night

Linda Blessing and Louie Stevens watch as Queen Cynthia Garro pins a boutonniere on her escort, Bill Brandt.

The highlight of the Homecoming weekend was the traditional Homecoming Dance. The theme this year was "Under the Midnight Sun." This twenty-seventh Homecoming festival provided an opportunity for alumni of Nilehi to rekindle old memories of their high school days.

With the aid and cooperation of the Senior Cabinet, the girls' gymnasium was transformed into an Alaskan wonderland, complete with a life-sized igloo and an Eskimo mural. Couples arrived at 8:30 P.M. and danced amid the imaginative decorations to the soft music of the Steve Barbar Band.

The evening was climaxed by the crowning of the annual Homecoming Queen, Cynthia Garro, and her lovely court, Judy Brickman, Linda Blessing, Michelle Flicht, and Janice Kamps. The dance was the perfect ending to a perfect Homecoming.

Student Unions provide monthly fun

"Way Out" of the ordinary was the first Student Union of 1963-64.

"Is it worth it" wonder Bill Nigot and Jeff Gent as they are initiated into N-Club by Bob Shearn.

A group of hard-working seniors compose the membership of the Student Union Board which sponsors the monthly Student Union dances. The Unions consist of a recent movie followed by dancing and refreshments. Thus, each month these active upperclassmen must combine their energies and their talents in order to surpass all previous unions.

The board members have the job of organizing each Union. They must think of new, exciting, unequaled ideas that will please the student body. And after the theme has been chosen, the board members must find the appropriate decorations that will make the gym alive and a part of the Union. The board must also select the movies that will be shown and supply the music and entertainment. All these responsibilities are rewarded by a fabulous Saturday night.

In the spring of each year the old makes way for the new. Juniors apply for positions on the Student Union Board. From these applications, the present board members carefully select the future members who, in the coming year will follow in the footsteps of their predecessors in attempting to make each Union better than the last.

Special Assemblies spark spirit

Varsity cheerleaders encourage students to support the Trojans at one of Nile's Pep Assemblies.

Among the traditional activities at Niles East are the several assemblies held throughout the year. Perhaps the most popular of the assemblies are the pep rallies. Students are led by the school band and cheerleaders in cheers to support the Trojans. In addition to rallying behind her teams, Niles rewards them at the annual spring and fall awards assemblies. At these events the hard-working Trojans are presented with major and minor letters, and those athletes who have won special acclaim receive their accolades before the entire student body. Not slighting students who have excelled in academics, Niles also takes special note of her outstanding scholars at the awards assemblies.

Music, as well as athletics and academics, is in the spotlight when the music department presents its orchestra and choirs. In several music assemblies distributed throughout the school year, Niles truly is able to exhibit another of her many talents.

Aside from the traditional assemblies, special assemblies are held when the occasion arises. The gymnasts were presented in a show of intricate and skillfully executed stunts. Jack Dempsey offered advice to young people and answered questions from students in one of the earlier assemblies of the year. In the future Niles can look forward to more assemblies as highlights of the school year.

Betty Johnson and Nancy Shonkwiler demonstrate the graceful skills of the girls' gymnastics team.

Track captain Mark Lieberman proudly accepts the "Most Valuable Player Award" from Mr. B. Barnette who represents the Booster Club.

Jack Dempsey signs autographs after speaking to the student body.

"Tonight at Tara" was the title of the 1963 turn-a-bout dance. G.A.A. annually devotes its efforts in making this dance one of the highlights of the year. Turn-a-bout, as the name implies, gives all the girls their chance to make proper advances towards that certain boy with a coy invitation to a school dance.

From 8:30 to 11:30 happy couples danced to the music of a professional band. Great white pillars, magnolia trees, and sparkling fountains transformed the girls' gymnasium into a southern atmosphere of stateliness and luxury. At the end of the evening with beaus in one hand and blue velvet bids in the other, girls dreamily departed after having spent a wonderful evening at "Tonight at Tara."

Niles on T.V.

Thanks to sponsor Mr. Palm and students Ken Seeskin and Joel Weinstein, Niles debates her way to victory on "Rebuttal."

Publicly showing her academic excellence, Niles East made appearances this year on two television programs, "It's Academic" and "Rebuttal." Carefully selected from the top ranks of the senior class, captain Paula Rest, Mark Leiberman, and Stuart Spies represented Niles East on "It's Academic." Sponsered by Mr. Josephson, Paula, Mark, and Stu victored in a quiz of general knowledge against Libertyville High School and Rich East High School winning a set of The Great Books of the Western World for the school library. On "Rebuttal," Ken Seeskin and Joel Weinstein coached by Mr. Palm again proved Niles East's high scholarship. Ken and Joel, pitted against students of St. George High School, took the affirmative viewpoint that the minimum wage law should be extended in coverage and won the debate.

Special Days vary school routine

Marita Powell, Howard Olisky, and Marcia Zucker proudly display their beanies on beanie day.

The class of '67 becomes acquainted with Niles East at Freshman Orientation.

Beanies, buttons, and bicycles are but a few of the novelties which comprise the special days of Niles East. Whether the purpose of a special day is to promote spirit, raise money, or familiarize students with certain school organizations, the special day always proves to be a lot of fun.

Sweatshirt Day, Beanie Day, and Gold and Blue Day bring out a little school spirit in everyone. The money which is raised by selling sweatshirts and beanies goes to class treasuries. Students, however, do not wear only spirit items on special days. The day before Christmas Vacation was Dress-up Day. Boys wearing ties and girls wearing hells added to the mood of the holiday season.

Freshman Orientation, Christmas Vacation Open House, Senior White Shirt Day, Senior Bicycle Day, and Senior Bermuda Day are just a few more of the many special days Niles has to offer. These special days are not only fun, but they have become a tradition uniting the students of our school.

Prom: Soir Celeste

Bob Ahrens signs Gabriel's Guest List as Kendra Nelson, Shelly Saffro, Dave Boyer, Judy Siegel, and Pete Nemkov, wait their turn.

"Soir Celeste" last year's junior-senior prom proved to be a heavenly evening. The formal spring dance was sponsored by the junior class in honor of 1963 graduating seniors.

Dreamy murals, twinkling stars, and angel's harps transformed the boys' gymnasium into a celestial paradise. At 8:30 couples began to arrive. Dreamy twosomes danced to the music of the Dick Long Orchestra. Later in the evening punch and pink frosted cakes were served. The dance was climaxed by the crowning of King Larry Wolfinson and Queen Sue Berberick. By 12:00 the dance floor was empty, the music was silent, the prom was over . . . only to remain in the memories of those who attended "Soir Celeste."

The climax of the evening was the crowning of King, Larry Wolfinson, Queen, Sue Berberick, and their court Bobbi Epstein and Les Multak, Kathy Wells and Jack Mise, Karen Schwarz and Ron Greenberg, Bob Stein and Gail Mason.

Graduation '64 finally arrives

The faculty of Niles East seem to be growing younger and younger . . . especially at the senior breakfast of the 1963 graduating class.

Since he was an entering freshman, the senior has looked forward to graduation. To him, graduation is a sign of his approaching adulthood. It is a sign of his readiness to face the world and its challenges.

In the few weeks before commencement, there is a certain excitement in the air. Special days, such as "Senior Bike Day" are alloted to him. Another event, which is sponsored by the Senior Cabinet, is the all school carnival, Panic '64.

The excitement is amplified as June arrives and the gap between student and graduate lessens. For the senior, the school year ends a week early. At this time, a graduation practice begins. The Senior Breakfast is held as a final farewell to school friends and to high school as well. Then, finally, the big day, the formal end to a wonderful four years, arrives.

To some, commencement is a joyous occasion; to others it is sentimental and solemn. To some, graduation is an end, but to others, it is the beginning to a new life. The once inexperienced freshman has emerged as a poised, confident graduate who is ready to challenge the world and its opportunities.

Saresta Rosenberg, Leon November, Cheryl Fritz, Stu Spies, and Ron Carson gingerly balance graduation caps on their heads as they practice for oncoming graduation ceremonies.

With graduation ceremonies finally completed Dale Melcher and Stuart Spies have a high school diploma, some warm memories and two very tired feet.

Parents serve the school and the community through such organizations as Booster Club.

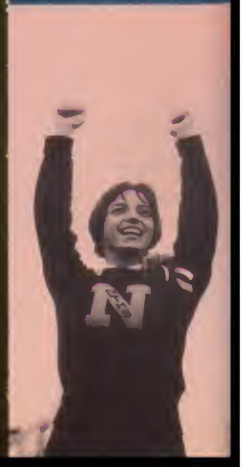
People

Students express curiosity through experimental science.

Mr. John Hallberg, a faculty member participating in the donkey basketball game, finds the situation more than he bargained for.

People make up the elements of education, leadership, athletics, arts, and occasions. In the school, youth uses these elements but on a restricted level. Homecoming, class elections, and student publications are among the ways students express their goals and ideals. In the city, but on a larger scale, adults use the same elements to express their ideals and goals. Libraries, courts, and public service projects are elements which build the city. Because the school and city have the same elements, the school is a miniature city.

A city beach is a quiet place for a friendly talk.



The freshmen experienced the excitement of their first homecoming by riding in the parade.

Freshmen, upon entering Niles, are thrown into a maze of winding halls, strange faces, and new rules. They are faced with the idea of becoming accustomed to a much more complex system than before. They find that certain demands are made on them; they must elect Student Council representatives, form a Freshman Cabinet, and begin uniting and working together to achieve common goals.

This year, along with electing representatives, the freshmen added to the holiday festivities by sending Christmas cards to all the teachers. They had a booth at the all school carnival, "Panic '64", began planning for their junior prom by selling Niles pennants, and concluded the year by having a large spring social affair.

By the end of the year the feelings of strangeness and newness had worn off and were replaced by feelings of belonging and importance. Now, being a part of Niles, the freshmen look forward to their future high school years.

Sophomores exhibit enthusiasm

The sophomore is an in-between high school student. He is no longer the quivering, uncertain "freshie" nor is he the relaxed, "know-it-all" senior. He is an upper-lower classman.

This year's "upper-lower classmen" were busy with many extra-curricular activities. One of the initial events of the Sophomore Class was to decorate a car for the Homecoming parade. The sophomores also ran a booth at the all-school carnival and collected class dues, the proceeds of both going toward the sophomore class treasury. One uniquely sophomore task, the ordering and receiving of class rings, once again sparked the unity of the Sophomore Class.

Besides their own class activities, the sophomores are both leaders and followers; they set examples for the freshmen and follow in the footsteps of the upperclassmen.

Juniors prepare for the future

When a student becomes a junior he assumes the responsibilities of an upperclassman preparing for college or the business world. PSAT and National Merit tests, enriched business courses, and career seminars are available to all.

Early in the year the juniors began promoting the collection of funds for the junior prom. They collected class dues, arranged for the performance of the Chad Mitchell Trio, and had a "marriage booth" at the all-school carnival, "Panic '64".

The Junior Class has a unique task ahead; not only must the juniors continue planning for their college or business careers, but they must take on added responsibilities when some of them go on to the new Niles North.

Junior Robin Richman prepares for the future by taking one of the many business courses at Niles.

As the school year draws to a close, the seniors look back upon their last year at Niles. They recall the construction of the senior homecoming float and the many cuts, bruises and sleepless nights that went into "We'll Make Mush Out of Them", the winner of the class "A" division.

They remember the homecoming football game and the festivities of the homecoming dance that followed. The sale of senior buttons in return for class dues along with events like the all school carnival, "Panic '64", are also brought to mind. The Senior Class Breakfast and the Picnic as well as the Prom are memories that soon will not be forgotten.

Even as the seniors look back at their life at Niles, they look forward to the future. They look forward to college or the business world and to the life that they will lead in the adult world, the life that was preceded by four memorable years at Niles.

Seniors enjoy their last year

Thinking about their four memorable years at Niles and of the future years that lie ahead are seniors Leon November and Dale Melcher.

Central Administration . . .

The central administration, composed of the superintendent, the board of education, and the directors of different departments, is the highest structure of the school system. Its main function is to act upon problems affecting both Niles East and Niles West.

Dr. Clyde Parker
Superintendent

To the Seniors of Nilehi East

Best wishes to you as you complete your courses of study in the Niles Township High Schools. Upon Graduation you become a very special person associated with a great host of important people. Each of you becomes an Alumnus of one of America's finest high schools.

The Board of Education, the Faculty, and the Citizens of the community wish for you the best that life has to give, especially after you have given your best to your life.

Clyde Parker
Superintendent of Schools

Board of Education

Board of Education Members: Standing, Mr. Kenneth E. Littrell, Mr. Milton Falkoff, Mr. Harold E. Atchinson. Seated: Mrs. Herman S. Block, Dr. John H. Speer (President), Mr. John M. Mau, Dr. Francis J. Saunders.

East Boosters' Club

The Booster Club is concerned with the welfare of the Nilehi student, especially in the field of athletics. Each spring the Booster Club organizes a Sports Spectacular featuring activities of the athletic department. They also sponsor the athletic banquets which are held at the conclusion of each season. These are just a few among the many projects the Booster Club sponsors each year. They are a great asset to our athletic program.

Niles East Boosters Club: Standing: Mr. Siegal, Mr. Barnett, Mr. Schaller, Mr. Wittkamp, Mr. Gilhooley, Mr. Balen, and Mr. November. Seated: Mr. Shearn, Mrs. Wittkamp, Mrs. Siegal, Mr. Rockowitz.

Parent-Teacher Association

Our Nilehi East PTA has diligently tried to fulfill its obligation to inform the public of the needs and achievements of the school. Our Parent Education Program, in the form of an informal "Koffee Klotch" and "Open House" has attempted to familiarize the parents with the various departments of the school and what is being done for the student. Information of the activities of the school and PTA are published monthly via the Nile-A-Gram.

A scholarship has been set up through our "Fund for Continuing Education." Students are to apply to the School Scholarship Committee. Each year PTA presents prize awards to winning floats at Homecoming. The PTA also shows its appreciation to the faculty and administrators through its annual faculty dinner.

It is our fervent hope to promote community support for the best attainable programs of education and student activities.

Mrs. Louis Simons
PTA President

A Message From the Principal:

The fulfillment of the ideals of our country and the preservation of our way of live as outlined in the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights demands that every Nilehi East Student understands and appreciate his duties, responsibilities and privileges as a citizen in our representative government and protect his country from aggression and subversive ideologies. To this end it is hoped that all students through opportunities provided by the school in the classroom and in extra curricular activities will learn to participate intelligently in the democratic processes, to develop respect for legally constitued authority, and to become an acceptable and contributing member of his family, school, community and nation.

J. Keith Kavanaugh

Assistant Principals

Dr. John Harris
Assistant Principal

Mr. Marvin Ihne
Assistant Principal

Guiding the student body in its preparation for the future is the administration of Nilehi. It keeps our school running efficiently while setting high academic goals and standards for the school body. Administrative assistance aids the student in his selection of appropriate subjects and extra-curricular activities that enable him to cultivate his interests and develop his talents. The administration also strives for better teacher-parent relations which are considered vital for educational progress. In a time when well informed citizens are necessary for the vitality of society, Nilehi and its excellent administrative staff are doing much in preparing the student for his future responsibilities.

Mr. Ihne previews the Homecoming floats.

Secretary to the Director of Student Activities
Mrs. Gloria Schabilion

IBM Clerks: Mrs. Garnet Faulkner, Mrs. Bernice Wilke.

Supporting Staffs

The supporting staffs are vital to the efficiency of Niles East. This group, which is composed of the cafeteria, custodial, audio-visual, office, and library staffs, sees that Nilehi activities functions as smoothly as possible.

The custodial and cafeteria staffs are responsible for the nutritious meals and maintenance of school facilities. Besides checking out books and magazines, the library clerks assist students in their research by providing reserve books and pamphlets. The office staff undertakes the switchboard duties, daily bulletins, student registration, scheduling, and mail distribution.

Although their work is often not visible, Nilehi thanks them for their dedicated efforts. It would indeed be difficult for the school to operate efficiently without their help.

Administrative Secretaries: Standing, Mrs. June Schmitzer (Dr. Kavanaugh). Seated, Mrs. Sylvia Terman (Mr. Ihne).

Acknowledgement

Developing a new type of yearbook format requires special co-operation and attention; we would like to thank those people who have helped produce "Reflections '64."

To Mr. Jeffrey Josephson, general staff advisor, Miss Jean Jackson, portrait staff advisor, and Mr. Marvin Ihne, administrative advisor we express our gratitude for their excellent guidance throughout the year. For helping us shape the original idea to a workable theme we thank Mr. Ted Beranis.

For their technical assistance we thank Norman King Co., publishers and Root Studios, photographers. For helping us picture the city, we thank the Art Institute of Chicago, Skokie Public Library, Mayor Griesdorf of Skokie, and Gingiss Brothers.

Yet our greatest appreciation must go to the general and portrait staffs for their time, effort , and talent in creating our reflection of the city.
